FROM THE PRESIDENT:

Dear PASFAA Members:

This issue of the Newsletter marks the end of the summer and the start of another academic year. Those I have talked with are in agreement that once again it was a busy and frustrating summer in financial aid. After several summers that "can't get any worse," we seem to accept whatever comes along.

On a much happier note, I call your attention to two items described in greater detail elsewhere in this issue. First, the annual conference of the Association will be held October 11-14 at Seven Springs Resort. Pat Loughran and the Conference Committee have put together an excellent program and the facilities of Seven Springs offer a delightful place for us to meet. Mark your calendars now and plan to attend what promises to be an exciting conference.

The second item worthy of comment is the slate of candidates for PASFAA offices. Once again able persons have shown their willingness to serve the Association by agreeing to be nominated for office. It is now important for the membership to participate in the election process by voting. This election is particularly important as representatives from the sectors to Executive Council will be chosen.

On another subject, the NASFAA Conference was held in Washington, D.C. late in July. By all evidence, it appears to have been the largest ever. The first thing one remembers about it is the temperature, which did not go below 80°. Getting beyond that, Pennsylvania members in attendance called on quite a few of our Congressmen during the "Hill visits" to encourage their support of financial aid. Also, a number of leading figures from Congress and the Department of Education addressed the conference assembly. Their messages were of support and understanding. Now we can only wait to see if this theme is carried through in the appropriations to aid programs and the regulations to implement Re-Authorization.

You have taken time to read this letter in the midst of starting another year. By way of conclusions, let me offer the hope that it will prove to be a good year for all of us. Where the "administrivia" gets too bad, we might take comfort in the fact that perhaps there are persons going to school through our efforts who would not be going otherwise. Best wishes for a successful school year.

Very truly yours,

William A. Irwin, President
PASFAA

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL NOTES

Council last met on June 1, 1987 at PHEAA in Harrisburg. A few highlights of the meeting are as follows:

Committee participation for 1987-88. PASFAA Members interested in serving on a committee for 1987-88 should complete the form that is located elsewhere in this newsletter. Committees will then be able to begin work at the conference or soon thereafter. Get involved—you'll be glad you did!

Absentee Balloting. PASFAA members will be voting on this issue at the 1987 conference in October. If passed by the membership, absentee balloting will be available for 1988-89. See the article elsewhere in this newsletter for details.

PAATP News. Council approved five people for submission to PAATP to serve on the Planning and Program Development Committee. These five people were Kate Hetherington, Betty Davis, Rick Wilson, Mary Miller and Catherine Kratzer.

1988 Conference. Council unanimously approved the Hershey Hotel as the 1988 conference site. Michael Schreier, Northampton County Area Community College, is the conference chairperson.

Council's next and final meeting will be held at the conference in October. Please contact any council member with matters of interest before the conference.

NASFAA CONFERENCE WEATHERS BLISTERING HEAT

submitted by Sheila Angst, Albright College

Nearly 1,400 aid officers from throughout the country gathered July 22-25 in Washington D.C.'s blistering 95+ degree heat for the 13th annual NASFAA Conference. More than 50 Pennsylvanians joined in for general sessions which included congressional and department of education spokesmen as well as concurrent interest sessions ranging from all aspects of reauthorization to philosophical discussions of financial aid.

Bill Burke, legislative network coordinator, organized the Pennsylvania congressional visits for July 23 which included scheduled meetings with 20 of the 23 congressional representatives and with Senator Heinz. Many PASFAA members reported worthwhile discussions on topics including the effects of reauthorization, need for federal appropriations for programs, and the paperwork burdens of recent regulations. NASFAA President Dallas Martin particularly urged members to seek appropriation support for the student financial aid program funding included in the federal budget.

Some of the important, factual information received at the conference appears below. Several of the items will require attention and encouragement by aid officers for support and assistance by members of Congress.

- House Bill H.R. 2649, The Lancaster/Price/Kennedy Higher Education Bill would correct some inadequacies passed in last year's Tax Reform Act. This bill would restore the deduction for interest paid on educational loans and would reinstate the fully tax-exempt status of scholarship funds. The bill's sponsors addressed NASFAA

MEMBERSHIP WILL VOTE ON ABSENTEE BALLOTING ISSUE

submitted by Donald Raley, Dickinson College

PASFAA Council has considered a procedure which, if approved by the active members, would allow PASFAA members who are unable to attend an annual conference to vote for council members by absentee ballot. Approved by Council at its June meeting, the following proposal will be presented during the business meeting at the 1987 Conference in Seven Springs. If the By-Laws are revised by vote of the active members, absentee balloting would begin for the 1988 election of council members.

ELECTION PROCEDURES

- I. Nominations would proceed unchanged as follows:
 - A. A mailing to all active members in June solicits nominations.
 - B. The slate of nominees is presented to the membership in the August edition of the Newsletter.
- II. The balloting procedures would be described in the August edition of the Newsletter as follows:
 - A. Regular Balloting: Instructions for regular balloting during the annual conference would remain unchanged.
 - B. Absentee Balloting: An absentee ballot will be sent to any bona fide active PASFAA member whose membership dues for the next fiscal year are paid in full and who is unable to attend the annual conference. A written request for a ballot must be received by the chairman of the Membership and Elections Committee by September 1. Com-members during the conference urging support for their bill. As of the time of the conference, 37 house members were reported supporting the bill. As a result of their congressional visits, some PASFAA members report that their representatives have signed on to support the bill.

- Conference attendees were reminded by the Department of Education that students enrolled in teacher certification programs and students coming early to post-secondary schools while still completing high school are not eligible for federal aid. These are two pieces of fall-out from reauthorization which dictated that students must be enrolled in degree or certificate programs and that students cannot be simultaneously enrolled in elementary/secondary and post-secondary schools.

It is understood that these two specifics are "interpretations" of the law by the Department. It is hard to believe that the intent of Congress would be to discourage those preparing for teaching careers and some of the brightest among our population. Certainly the law was aiming at preventing people from receiving Title IV aid for what could be termed "frivolous" study outside of degree or certificate programs. While those enrolled in teacher certificate programs do receive that document at the end of their program, it is usually awarded by the state and not the educational institution.

At a time when Congress is encouraging people with scholarships to go into teaching to meet a societal need, it seems inappropriate that they now be prevented from eligibility for student loans under reauthorization. Many of the students who enroll simultaneously to complete their senior high school year and begin post-secondary study are among the brightest and most motivated.

NOMINATIONS FOR 1987 ELECTION

A slate of nominees for the October PASFAA election has been prepared by the Membership and Elections Committee. Nomination forms received by the August 4 deadline were used to prepare the list of candidates. The two people with the most nominations for each open council position are presented below and will be entered on the ballots to be cast at the annual conference in Seven Springs. The names of additional candidates may be added to the two identified for each position by the Committee by nomination from the floor of the annual business meeting.

This year each voting member may vote for a candidate for President Elect and a candidate to represent his or her sector on the PASFAA Council.

Although PASFAA Council has recommended the adoption of an absentee balloting procedure (described on page 2 of this Newsletter), such a procedure is not available as an alternative to the traditional voting method for the October, 1987 election. A change in the By-Laws of the Association is required to enable absentee voting.

Active members, described as financial aid administrators at educational institutions, are the only PASFAA members eligible to vote. Ballots will be distributed to active members in their conference packets, and the double envelope systems of balloting will be used.

After the first session of the annual business meeting when additional nominations can be made, a ballot box will be located near the registration area of the hotel to receive completed ballots. The box will be available during the times when members of the Conference Committee are working at the registration tables. Ballots may be cast until 12:00 noon on Tuesday, October 13 and the Membership and Elections Committee will announce election results during the second session of the business meeting.

Each candidate has been asked to have a personal resume available for display on a bulletin board near the registration tables. Also, candidates will be introduced during the first business meeting to facilitate their becoming known by all PASFAA members.

It is unclear if Congress is aware of these two interpretations by the Department. PASFAA members are encouraged to inform their congressional representatives and key members of educational committees on these matters.

- The INS regulations requiring all new employees to submit documentation for the I-9 form will prove to be particularly burdensome to post-secondary institutions which hire student employees. Currently, part-time student employees are not exempt from these requirements.

PASFAA members are encouraged to inform their congressional representatives of the burdensome nature of these requirements on schools and colleges. Many institutions hire hundreds, and in some cases, thousands of students, in a few days early in the semester to begin work immediately. The INS regulations require that the paperwork be completed within 3 days of the employee beginning work. It is likely that in writing the law Congress did not take into account the millions of student employees affected.

It is unlikely that illegal aliens, at whom the law is aimed, are attempting to be employed part-time on college campuses while enrolled as students. You are urged to encourage your congressional representatives to waive students working on their campuses from these INS requirements. Not only is the regulation burdensome to the school administration; it may also inhibit and delay delivery of student aid to deserving students and eligible citizens.

19th ANNUAL CONFERENCE

PASFAA 87

YOU WON'T WANT TO MISS IT!

PASFAA '87 preparations are in full swing with sessions, speakers, and socials intended to offer excitement for the profession and variety in activities. Each fall Pennsylvania financial aid professionals can be re-committed and refreshed by the annual conference.

Reauthorization and the Technical Amendments and the upcoming Congressional Methodology are only a few of the issues which will be covered in concurrent sessions and federal updates. The second PASFAA Financial Aid Bowl will give participants and audience alike a chance to hone their technical knowledge and will provide Pennsylvania with a champion team to enter in future bowls. Professional development will be highlighted in a session on leadership styles in management presented by Dr. Chuck Kormanski from the Altoona campus of Penn State and by the Monday luncheon speaker, Mr. Stanley Collender from Touche-Ross, editor of the Federal Budget Review.

New financial aid professionals will be exposed to an overview in financial aid administration through the PAATP Training offered on Sunday afternoon beginning at 1 p.m. The opening business meeting, the President's Reception, banquet and keynote speaker, Lieutenant Governor Mark Singel, and finally dancing to the well-known area band "Shades of Time" promise to initiate our conferees into an exciting few days.

The Forms Fair will give us an opportunity to share communication styles. Please make the forms fair worthwhile by sending brochures, letters, forms, etc., to Chris Zuzack at IUP as soon as possible.

Seven Springs Mountain Resort, bright and colorful in the autumn, offers (besides the scenery) many activities for your pleasure and relaxation. Sport-lovers may swim, play racquetball, volleyball or tennis all free of charge. Bring along a camera and comfortable clothing and shoes. Indoor sports lovers will be able to find opportunities for card or board games; and, after the hectic summer, might want a chance to sit on the balcony a bit. PASFAA's Fun Run and Golf Tournament are scheduled for Sunday, October 11, with hopes for new participants to join the "regulars." Since this is election year for the sector representative to PASFAA Council as well as for President-elect, we look forward to the business meetings and committee meetings also. If you forget to pack enough, PASFAA shirts will again be available at the registration table. We suggest you buy early so as not to miss out.

Full details of the Conference have been sent to you in early August. If any member has not received his or her packet of information by this time, please contact Pat Loughran at (814) 472-7000 or through terminal TM64.

Please join us in October to share our excitement. In fact, you are our excitement!

ENHANCING COMMUNICATIONS

submitted by Christine Zuzack, Indiana University of Pennsylvania

Financial aid professionals are always looking for better ways to communicate with students and their families. Sharing your brochures, hand-outs, and correspondence may assist other financial aid officers in developing more effective lines of communication. How about sharing your efforts through the PASFAA FORMS FAIR to be held at the annual conference at Seven Springs Mountain Resort this October!!!

In fact, any type of printed materials, including verification forms, debt management information, and policy manuals, would all be of interest to your colleagues. If you have developed video or computer programs for student use, this would certainly open a new area of communication for many financial aid offices.

October 11-14, 1987

Please forward two copies of any printed materials that you would be willing to share to:

Christine A. Zuzack
Financial Aid Office
308 Pratt Hall, IUP
Indiana, PA 15705

If you have computer or video programs, please contact Chris Zuzack at 412-357-2218 or TMJ8 for details.

Materials are needed by September 15, 1987. Don't delay! We're counting on your support to make this FORMS FAIR a success!!

HOW HAVE WE CHANGED? REVISITED...

submitted by Rich Esposito, Pittsburgh Beauty Academy

We all know that changes are inevitable in the Title IV Financial Aid Programs regulations. In fact, since the last PASFAA Newsletter, there already have been changes to the Federal regulations with the signing of the Higher Education Technical Amendment Act of 1987.

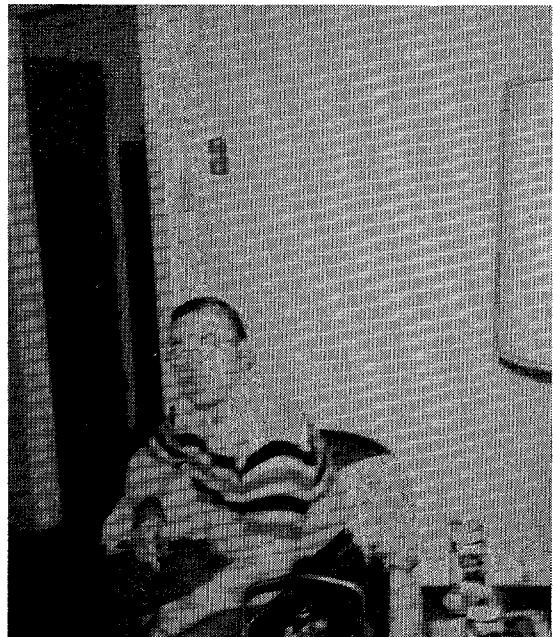

With all the changes that have occurred over the years, they must have had an effect on you as a financial aid professional. Please share with us how you were affected (for our photo contest during the conference). Send us a picture of yourself when you first began working in financial aid. On the back of the picture print your name, the institution you are currently with, and the year you began in financial aid. We'll see how many colleagues you can identify. Pictures will be returned at the end of the conference.

"NEW" SATISFACTORY PROGRESS GUIDELINES

submitted by Kim Kilyk, LaRoche College

The Higher Education Amendments of 1986 brought many "new" changes to the processing of federal financial aid for both "new" students and currently enrolled students. To name a few changes, aid offices were challenged with "new" independent student definitions, the "new" GSL need analysis, and the "new" GSL loan limits. There is also the "new" loan consolidation program and the "new" loan disclosures. Because many of these changes went into effect January 1, 1987—they of course are no longer "new"; they are being practiced nationwide by all aid officers. However...the "newest" one, which many aid officers probably decided to worry about later, is the "new" satisfactory progress definition, which is effective for periods of enrollment beginning on or after July 1, 1987 to individuals who have not been previously awarded Title IV assistance, i.e., "new" freshmen are affected. This definition states: a student is making satisfactory academic progress if, at the end of his or her second academic year, he or she has a cumulative "C" average or better. This "new" definition is in addition to a school's existing progress definition for currently enrolled students who have already received aid under a Title IV program. This means that schools will now have two satisfactory progress definitions—one for "new" students or first time aid recipients, and one for old students.

The complete, new definition can be found on page 6 of the October 8, 1987 PHEAA update memo and page 1.11-37 of the NASFAA encyclopedia. Also, aid officers will need to create a "new" Financial Aid Transcript which will state the dates a student received aid at your institution.

"So, you want to apply for financial aid...?"

PASFAA '87 KEYNOTE SPEAKER: LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR MARK S. SINGEL

Mark S. Singel served as an aide to U.S. Representatives Helen S. Meyner (D-NJ) and Peter A. Peyser (D-NY) from 1975 through 1979. Singel was elected to the 35th District seat in the Pennsylvania Senate in November, 1980—one of the youngest members ever elected to the state Senate, and was reelected in 1984. He served for six years as a state senator specializing in legislation relating to economic development, education, and local government.

In May, 1986, Singel won a hard-fought primary to capture the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor over two opponents. On the ticket with Governor Robert P. Casey, Singel—at age 33—won the 1986 November general election to become the 27th Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In addition to his Constitutionally assigned duties of President of the Senate and Chairman of the Board of Pardons, Singel serves—by appointment of the Governor—as Chairman of the Governor's Energy Council, Chairman of the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency and Council, Chairman of the Emergency Response Commission, member of the Economic Development Partnership Board and Governor's representative to the Penn State Board of Trustees.

ABSENTEE BALLOTING

pleted absentee ballots must be received by the chairman prior to one week before the official opening day of the annual conference to be considered valid.

Those requesting absentee ballots will not be issued regular ballots at the annual meeting and will be denied the opportunity to vote for any person nominated for PASFAA office from the floor of the annual business meeting.

All bona fide absentee ballots for each PASFAA office will be opened and counted by the Membership and Elections Committee members prior to the counting of regular ballots. Absentee ballots carry the same weight and influence as regular ballots.

BY-LAWS REVISION

Amendments to the By-Laws are achieved by a two-thirds majority of members voting; provided that certain notifications are made and that the proposed amendment is mailed to active members at least thirty days before the vote is called by the Council. Therefore, it is recommended that the by-laws revision mechanism be activated to achieve the following change:

By-Laws, Article II, Section 2

The current statement:

Election of officers and Councilpersons shall be held under the supervision of the Membership and Elections Committee and shall take place at the Annual Conference of the Association. Election shall be by plurality of Active members present and voting. No write-in vote will be counted unless the person receiving the vote has been nominated by the assembly. Voting shall be by the double envelope method of secret balloting.

The proposed revision:

Election of officers and councilpersons shall be held under the supervision of the Membership and Elections Committee and shall be by plurality of active members voting. Balloting shall be conducted as follows:

- a. Regular Balloting—shall take place at the annual conference of the Association. No write-in vote will be counted unless the person receiving the vote has been nominated by the assembly. Voting shall be by the double envelope method of secret balloting.
- b. Absentee Balloting—is available to bona fide active members whose membership dues for the next fiscal year are paid in full and who are unable to attend the annual conference. An absentee ballot must be requested of the Chairman of the Membership and Elections Committee in writing by September 1 and completed and returned to the Chairman prior to one week before the official opening day of the annual conference. Those requesting absentee ballots will not be issued regular ballots at the annual conference and will be denied the opportunity to vote for any person nominated for office from the floor of the annual business meeting. Absentee ballots will have the same weight and influence as regular ballots. No write-in votes will be counted. Voting shall be by the double envelope method of secret balloting.

PACU PROJECT COMPLETES FIRST YEAR

Project for an Informed Choice sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities has completed its first year of operation. The project's purpose is to stimulate college going rates among high school graduates. Despite the declining 18-22 year old population, the Project is making progress in increasing participation rates. The following excerpts are from a report describing what PACU has accomplished thus far in achieving the objectives of the Project and a description of remaining objectives to be accomplished.

1. OBJECTIVE: TO IDENTIFY THE PARTICIPATION SPINOFF PROGRAMS INITIATED ACROSS THE STATE AS A RESULT OF THE 1987 PACU STUDY. (Only selected, significant undertakings are referenced in this report.)

- Four Northampton County institutions produced a 30 minute color video tape and accompanying brochures to be used with school students and parents as a means of raising the awareness levels of students and parents about participation in postsecondary education.
- A "Collaborative for West Philadelphia Public Schools" has been established to include tutoring, having college presidents visit schools, and preparing an educational guide listing the resources of the community.
- The Harrisburg Area Community College has assigned an admissions representative to high schools within the region to increase awareness of the opportunities available at the college.
- Kutztown University busses minority high school students throughout their service area to the campus for presentations by various staff members.
- The University of Pittsburgh at Bradford hosted a Career Day for eighth grade students and their parents.
- Metropolitan Pittsburgh Public Broadcasting, Inc., in partnership with the Pittsburgh Council on Higher Education and the Pittsburgh Urban League, is producing a special television program titled "Minorities in Higher Education."
- The Pennsylvania Gas Association is expanding a formerly regional publication called "Family Guide to College Costs" to embrace the entire Commonwealth.
- Pennsylvania Association of College Admissions Counselors (PACAC) has produced two public service announcements and is working on a third for use on television and radio across the state.
- PHEAA has developed the PHEAA Aid Information System (PAIS) to allow students and parents to estimate their eligibility for aid programs.

In an effort to learn more about major undertakings as well as "grass roots" activities, PACU recently placed articles in newsletters of seven school and college education associations, asking people in basic and higher education what they have been doing to stimulate interest in, and give greater attention to, career exploration and educational planning among parents and students and to raise their awareness levels of the opportunities available for participating in postsecondary education. We want them to send their ideas to us.

Our long range goal is to take all the ideas which we receive, publish the best of them in a soft cover sampler, and distribute them to schools, colleges, and communities. This sampler will serve as an idea reference guide that may be helpful to persons and organizations interested in bringing about changes in the educational processes of students.

2. OBJECTIVE: TO SERVE ALL PARTICIPATION ACTIVITIES, OPERATIONALLY AND PROGRAMMATICALLY, FROM THE CENTRAL OFFICE IN HARRISBURG.

- In the PDE campaign encouraging "Parents, Be a Part of It," a workshop was held at Shippensburg University last fall for school administrators, counselors, and home school visitors to assist them in implementing the "Parents, Be a Part of It" program.
- PACU and PDE have held several meetings to discuss a program intended to communicate to parents of eighth and ninth grade students with information about the value of a college education and the opportunities available in Pennsylvania colleges and universities.
- PHEAA and PACU cooperated to send personal copies of "Choices, A Guide to Pennsylvania Colleges and Universities" to 516 black clergy throughout the Commonwealth with the intent that the guide would prove helpful to minority group students, and those who guide and counsel them, in making the decision to attend a college or university in Pennsylvania.
- PACU, PHEAA, and PACAC have discussed the possibility of coordinating sponsorship of postsecondary education and financial aid information booths at selected shows, fairs, and special events programs.
- PACU has applied for and received permission to give workshop presentations at the Pennsylvania School Counselors Association (PSCA) and PACAC conferences this spring and summer.
- The Department of Education continues to advocate the concept of Partnerships in Education. These partnerships are voluntary, formal arrangements between schools and public and private sector groups, which are designed to combine the energies and resources of the partners to enrich various aspects of the educational process.
- PACU has held meetings with representatives of PACAC to encourage them to pursue their plans for producing public service announcements promoting higher education in the state.

(The report will be continued in the next newsletter. If you would like further information on the PACU Report or have an idea for the Project for an informed choice, please contact William Harrell, Project Director, PACU, 800 N. Third Street, Harrisburg, PA 17102 or call (717) 232-4446.)
